Reena

EDUCATION FUNDS DESPERATELY NEEDED FOR REENA

Such a lovely girl, Reena is beautiful inside & out. Photos at age 12 (left) & age 18 (right) at RNGC.

Coloured pencil drawing of Reena from photo by Robin Byrnes. The pencils used were Faber Castell Polychromos on Canson paper (A3 size)

Reena's first days at Robin's Nest age 7 provided gifts of bedding & nutritious food 3 times a day.

Robin teaches the Good News & drawing during her annual visits. Robin drew Reena & she loved it!

Reena at 20 (left) & 16 (right) wants to be a teacher and help other children living an oppressed life.

We are still so proud of Reena for receiving her trophy for proficiency in English literature, age 15.

From a remote Indian village in desolate sun-burnt and stony land, Reena lived in a mud brick hut with a straw roof. Reena's birth mother allegedly died of shock after her Dalit father's loss from a preventable death of dehydration. Her village chief then sent Reena to an uncle's house where she was forced to do all house chores. But, when she was 7 she was abandoned by the destitute uncle and a jealous step-aunt, leaving her on dirt roads to fend for herself. That was when Reena was put under Robin's Nest Global Child's wing. We discovered a sweet, gentle girl who loved singing, sewing, dal with chapatti & badminton. Then she spent her 8th birthday with Robin.

For the last 2 years Reena has been without a sponsor due to COVID-19 issues and the loss of an aging supporter. Reena has been attending a private girl's school in Jhansi and we had not considered it wise for her studies to stop before she graduates. However, this leaves us with a huge amount of $2,500 to find to help Reena realize her dreams of becoming a schoolteacher. So, we reach out now to ask you for financial assistance. To start our appeal's momentum, a helpful artist has donated $250.00 along with 10 signed A3 sized colour prints of his drawing of Reena above-centre to the first 10 people who donate $50.00 to this worthy campaign. If you can, please donate to the bank account below so Reena can move from her desolate sun-burnt and stony past to a deserving and delightful bright future.

Robin's Nest Children and Robin's Nest Global Child Team!
